Do I need vaccinations to travel to this country?

If you are coming from the U.S., you are advised to consult the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention regarding travel. Your doctor or health-care provider will determine what you will need, depending on factors such as your health and immunization history, areas of the country you will be visiting, and planned activities. What airport do I fly into and out of?

You will fly into Cape Town International Airport (CPT). International flights into Cape Town generally arrive midday if the flight is routed through a European gateway such as London or Frankfurt. Flights departing East Coast gateways such as Atlanta, Dulles or New York typically arrive in the evening hours in Cape Town. Some flights departing the USA may include a changeover in Johannesburg en route to Cape Town. On the final day of the adventure, an early afternoon flight will bring you from Hoedspruit to O.R. Tambo International Airport (JNB) in Johannesburg for your return flight home. Travel from your hotels to sites in and near Cape Town and within the Garden Route region will be by motor coach. On Day 5, you will fly on a commercially scheduled flight from Cape Town to the Garden Route. On Day 7, you will fly on a commercially scheduled flight from the Garden Route to Hoedspruit via Johannesburg. On Day 10, you will fly on a commercially scheduled flight from Hoedspruit back to Johannesburg.

What is the climate like?

Since South Africa is situated in the southern hemisphere, its seasons are the reverse of those in North America, with midwinter in June and July and midsummer in December and January. In general, the country enjoys a sunny climate all year round. Cape Town and the southernmost part of the Western Cape have a mild, changeable winter—the time most rainfall occurs—and a warm to hot summer. The winters in the interior regions of the country, including the Kapama Game Reserve, are mostly dry, cool and often chilly at night. Early morning and evening game drives can be quite chilly and adequate warm clothing is required. Many guests find that a wool stretch cap, a scarf and gloves, combined with cool weather layers of clothes, are sufficient to remain comfortable. The game drive vehicles are equipped with wool blankets for covering legs and torsos. Summers are hot and experience more frequent rain.

How strenuous are the activities?

This is an active trip. However, all the activities are easy, and you can always choose to opt in or out as you wish. There are swimming pools at all 3 hotels; however, none are heated. There may be up to 2 hours of casual walking during a full day of activity in Cape Town and along the Garden Route. There is a short, easy bike ride in the Winelands area on Day 4. Game-viewing on Days 7-10 is enjoyed while riding in 4x4 vehicles. While nearly all of the trip's featured activities are gentle if enjoyed separately, the full range of activities requires a moderate amount of stamina in order to get the most of your vacation.

What ages are appropriate for this adventure?

We recommend that children be at least 8 years old at the time of travel on our South Africa trip. This is based on several factors including flight time and jet lag, time zone differences in the destination, duration of the vacation, extended hours of daily activity programming, number of internal transports between experiences, potential for extreme temperatures in the summer months, and the amount of physical activity involved. Last but not least, the game viewing at Kapama for the final 3 days of the trip involves close encounters with large wild animals such as lions, leopards, buffalo, hippos and rhinoceroses. A level of maturity is required to understand that sitting still and staying quiet is essential for fully enjoying this unique experience. Therefore, children should be a minimum of 6 years old for the game drives. Because each child is different, please call a vacationista at (800) 543-0865† to discuss whether this is the right trip for your kids.
